Lunch & Learn Series of Training

If only I had more time to learn...
time to do it.

With today's fast-paced environment, every business knows what it is like to have a need for training but little

Well, we have the answer! A tried and tested remedy for any business is to offer up a series of training topics to meet your needs and then having employees congregate in your lunch cafeteria or in a conference room to be the best they can be. We tackle the subjects that most need the attention of your employees in one-hour or two-hour increments over a period of time.

Some businesses want one week out of every month, 3-4 days for one hour of training in the areas of most concern. Others want 1-2 days of 2-hour bytes of training a month. Whatever you need, we can make it work.

How can you be sure these short bytes of training stick with employees?

The better question is: What happens if you don't train at all? Amazingly enough, the feedback on these sessions has been very positive and preferred for a lot of people. Some of the short homework assignments we distribute help keep the employees focused on what they've learned and how they must apply themselves in the workplace to get positive results.

I'm going to lunch to learn how to be the best I can be...

What if everyone can't attend every session?

Obviously, it is best if you gain the commitment of your employees to try and make the sessions; however, we know that's not always possible. If you have employees who are unable to attend the sessions, we offer a tele-class on the same topic that can be taken later. From the comfort of their office, they call into a conference number, listen in and participate...while they're eating lunch, having coffee, or just taking in what we have to say.

At last, I've found a way to concentrate on building strengths through short bytes of learning!
